Background

The Nasha Mukta Bharat Abhiyaan (NMBA), spearheaded by the Ministry of Social Justice & Empowerment, is actively engaged in the comprehensive reduction of drug demand throughout the country. This initiative oversees and supervises various facets of drug abuse mitigation, including the assessment of the issue's scope, preventive measures, intervention strategies, and the treatment and rehabilitation of individuals affected by substance abuse. Additionally, the program focuses on disseminating information and creating public awareness. Given the susceptibility of students and youth to substance use, they emerge as pivotal stakeholders in the success of this Abhiyaan.
